ADELL, WISCONSIN

Community Profile

The Village of Adell is a rural, quaint community and an agricultural hub for Sheboygan County. With strong ties to the farming industry and a supportive local business environment, Adell offers both economic opportunity and small-town charm. Located in southwestern Sheboygan County along State Highway 57, the Village is surrounded by the rural Towns of Sherman and Lyndon. Adell features a quiet, scenic setting with no major waterways but plenty of open countryside. The community is proud of its rich heritage, welcoming atmosphere, and commitment to supporting agriculture and local enterprise.

Government Structure

The Village of Adell operates under the laws of the State of Wisconsin. The Board consists of the Village President and six trustees. The members of the Board of Trustees are elected at large by the Village of Adell's registered voters to serve two-year staggered terms. As elected officials, the Village Board is responsible to the residents of Adell. The Board adopts ordinances, resolutions, budgets, goals, and policies of the Village.
